The Engine and Bounce Contracts

BounceLinker is comprised of an Engine for processing and a Bounce Contract. As a stand-alone, the engine will not function. It must be accompanied by a contract for bounces that will allow BounceLinker to process a certain number of bounces.

The BounceLinker Bounce Contract will process an unlimited number of bounces and never expires.

Demo Version

There is a Demo Version of BounceLinker is available at www.bouncelinker.com. The Demo Version has the following restrictions:

- it will process only one email at a time
- it will not perform any advanced processing options (see page 1)
- it will cease to function after 15 days

Licensing and Registration

BounceLinker is licensed for the GoldMine system that it will be working with. After ordering, you will be supplied with an Engine license number that will allow installation exclusively for the GoldMine license that was supplied with the order and a Bounce Contract license number will allow processing of the number of bouncebacks included in the bounce contract. The license numbers will be valid for 7 days after it they are supplied. If installation is not performed within 7 days, you will have to contact support for new license numbers.

The BounceLinker Engine is a "server" license that must be installed with the central GoldMine installation. A BounceLinker Pro Edition "E" license will only be valid for a GoldMine "E" license. A BounceLinker Standard Edition "D" license will only be valid for a GoldMine "D" license.

Remote GoldMine users with "S" or "U" licenses may gain licensing for BounceLinker by undocking a BounceLinker license for each remote user. A BounceLinker™ "U" license will only be valid for a GoldMine "U" or "S" license.

Ordering the software

Orders are taken by our on-line store at <http://www.ck-soft.com/Merchant2/merchant.mv>. When ordering, you must supply your company contact information as well as your GoldMine license number. You will be emailed an invoice when the order is processed. Payment may be made by credit card only and license numbers will be sent by email following credit card approval.

Obtaining the software

BounceLinker is available by download only. After ordering from the on-line store, you will be transferred directly to the download site to obtain the software.

Installation

Full installation instructions may be found in a separate document. To obtain a current copy, go to www.bouncelinker.com, click on Downloads, and select the BounceLinker Installation Instructions pdf file.

Software Updates

BounceLinker resellers and end users will be notified by email when software updates are available. Updates may be downloaded from www.bouncelinker.com. More details are included in the installation instructions document (see above).

Support

End users with support needs may contact their GoldMine reseller or they may email CK Software directly at support@bouncelinker.com. All end user direct support requests will be forwarded to their GoldMine Reseller first for review.

CK Software provides fee-based Standard and Advanced Event Support Calls to its customers who request direct support or who are not working with a GoldMine reseller. Please visit www.bouncelinker.com to get more information on the prices and details of these support options.
